

SCIENTISTS GIVE HINTS OF FUTURE ON BIRTH CONTROL

The discovery of vitamins and the newer knowledge of nutrition, even better bodies will be available in a few generations.

He predicted that the knowledge now available for controlling the birth of the unfit and the degenerate will be applied for the advancement of all mankind.

Infectious disease, he predicted, will be eliminated.

On Threshold.

Dr. Pearl announced that biologists are now on the threshold of advances that will change man's whole outlook. Application to higher life of the power already demonstrated in increasing the growth and duration of life of lower organisms are likely to come in the not too distant future, he said.

"We are on the eve of things of an entirely different nature," said Charles F. Kettering, vice president of General Motors. "Everything that ever moved on the earth has been moved by energy which comes directly from the sun."

When this "sun-power" is controlled, he said, it will not be difficult to predict the propulsion of airplanes by radiated energy from power plants located on the ground, or to envision an entire system of aerial transportation unaffected by fog and weather conditions in general.

Non-metallic, transparent and non-breakable containers for food, which would permit fruit to be transported thousands of miles without loss of taste or freshness, were seen by Charles S. Ash, director of research for the California Packing Company.

Wouldn't Run.

"The simplest motor car, built the way houses are built, would cost $30,000 and probably wouldn't run," said Harvey Wiley Corbett, famous architect.

Corbett asserted that industry would be able to coordinate all the factors of home building from land to finance, and deliver a more beautiful and more permanent home ready for occupancy within a week from the time the order was placed.

William R. Seigle, chairman of Johns-Manville Corporation, said of his buildings of the future would be built as empty shells, with floors, ceilings and walls insulated according to the tenant's desires.

Amazing progress was predicted for the radio field by Merlin H. Aylesworth, president of the National Broadcasting Company.

"I believe the day will come when you will turn on the facsimile (radio) receiver when retiring and in the morning the paper tape will tell the story of what flashed through the sky while you were slumbering," he said.

"Through radio in the home man will look and hear around the earth as if the globe were but a baseball resting in palm of his hand."

200-Mile Speed.

Regular transcontinental airplane schedules of 15 to 18 hours and multi-motored air lines crossing oceans on frequent schedules at approximately 200 miles an hour was envisioned by E. R. Breach, president of North American Aviation.

On the motion picture screen, said E. H. Hansen of the Fox Film Corporation, will be pictures of real color, stereoscopic in character and with sound effects practically as faithful as the original.

Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin, said college curricula would be revised as insurance against social disaster by teaching future generations to govern the effects of technical discoveries.

"The machine has not betrayed us. We have betrayed the machine," he said. "Science and technology have given us the means by which we may emancipate the race from poverty, drudgery and insecurity."

by Mr. Adams and replace them with men and women of his own selection. This he accomplished by a threat of withholding the funds appropriated to the department of agriculture by the legislature.

"He next invaded the state highway department by force of arms, under a proclamation declaring 'a state of insurrection' and threw out Mr. Barnett and Mr. Verson for no reason whatsoever except their refusal to let him dictate the men to be employed in the highway department."

"He next threw out of office the public service commission and appointed an entirely new commission, with instructions to them to reduce utility rates and railroad freight rates. This they did, or attempted to do, but their orders have not been effective except in the case of the Georgia Power Company, which voluntarily acquiesced in the rate reduction."

"The reason for that was neither Governor Talmadge nor his instructed public service commission, but the power development. None of the other rate reductions has 'stuck' or is likely to 'stick' for the simple reason that the new public service commission acted not upon evidence according to law, but acted on instructions from the governor."

"The latest usurpation of authority by Governor Talmadge was his instruction to the comptroller general to increase the tax assessments of all the railroads operating in Georgia. And the reason for that was neither Governor Talmadge nor his instructed public service commission, but the power development. Talmadge Spurs to Victory in Thrilling Mule Race of lackeys. There is not a head of a department or institution, and hardly an employee, who can call his soul his own.

"But that is not all. The governor has gone even beyond the heads of administrative departments and attempted to intimidate the courts by threatening in public speeches to defeat any judge who dared to enjoin any rate reduction ordered by his public service commission."

"There is not to be found in the history of Georgia another such record of ruthless and reckless abuse of power and usurpation of authority and disregard of law."

"Yet even these facts are not the whole record, for in addition thereto is the fact that Governor Talmadge, by a shocking abuse of the clemency power, has turned loose upon the state a swarm of professional criminals."

"The second major issue upon which I oppose Governor Talmadge is his attitude toward the administration of President Roosevelt. When Talmadge was running for governor, at the same time Roosevelt was running for president, Talmadge subscribed to the democratic platform without reservation and pledged himself to support the Roosevelt administration 100 per cent."

"In place of supporting the president and doing all in his power to help along the president's recovery program, Governor Talmadge has criticized and obstructed every measure put forward in Washington. He characterized the young men in the civilian conservation corps as 'loafers and bums.' He ridiculed the president's plan for the farmers to plow up a third of last year's cotton crop as 'the wildest piece of foolishness he had ever heard of.' After the farmers had plowed up a third of their cotton, and the price immediately advanced, he accused Secretary Wallace of holding back the farmers' checks. He tried to break up the CWA by denouncing the pay scale of 30 cents an hour; then, from real property the burden of taxation, or to raise our educational system to a higher level, or to attract new industries and investments from outside the state. One objective and one alone has directed his conduct and course of action, which is to set up a one-man government—to establish a Talmadge dictatorship—except to make of himself the supreme and all-highest in Georgia politics—to duplicate in this state the notorious regime of Huey P. Long in Louisiana."

"In 16 months he has brought the state government to a condition of turmoil and chaos, has made of himself and our public affairs a laughing stock all over the nation, and has rendered it difficult if not impossible to bring into Georgia any outside capital."

"But my candidacy for governor is not predicated upon the abuses and perils of the Talmadge regime. I shall advocate a definite, specific, clean-cut, constructive program."

"In the first place, I favor repeal of the Georgia prohibition law in the name of honesty and to put an end to the hypocrisy upon this subject. I shall advocate an adequate and enforceable method of regulating the manufacture and sale of intoxicating beverages, so as to close the speakeasy and eradicate the bootlegger, and so as, above all, to protect our young people, many of whom are tragic victims of the mistaken idea that prohibition of intoxicants would stop the consumption of intoxicants."

Liquor Sale Plans.

"Every man and woman, every boy and girl in Georgia, knows that the prohibition laws of this state are now being enforced; that beer, wine and whisky are being sold openly and covertly, all over Georgia, and that the sole restriction upon the traffic is the individual's lack of the purchase price. It is the sworn duty of the governor to enforce the prohibition law, but Governor Talmadge has openly and notoriously failed to perform this duty, and at the same time has not had the courage either to admit the reason or to enforce the law. As a member of the city council of Atlanta I voted last year against an ordinance to license the sale of beer for the reason that felt it my duty to oppose an ordinance in direct violation of the law of the state. To control the sale of alcoholic beverages, propose the sale in and by counties at their option, the profit to be taken by the state and local governments. This will destroy the profits of the bootleggers and produce a revenue of hundreds of thousands of dollars."

"I shall advocate a plan for reorganizing the state's revenue system, providing adequate maintenance for the schools and institutions, and lifting the burden of ad valorem taxation which has practically crushed the value out of all classes of real property. I shall especially advocate exemption from all taxation, state and local, of homes occupied by owners up to a value of $1,500. This is necessary because it is just. It is vital if we are to preserve our liberties and institutions. Let home-owning be made secure; let the small home-owner who more than bears his share of the cost of government be no longer oppressed by government. Let us make true again what once was true in Georgia, that a 'man's home is his castle.' President Roosevelt has shown his great vision by rescuing thousands of home-owners who, through no fault of their own, were in danger of losing their homes."

"These matters cannot be encompassed in my remaining time, and I earnestly invite your attention to what I shall submit for your further consideration as the gubernatorial campaign progresses further. I thank you and bid you good-night."

JUDGE S. H. SIBLEY MADE MODERATOR BY PRESBYTERIANS

Mexican primary schools has been invoked.

"At home we find ourselves without the former material resources to carry on, but the black background has seemed only to add lustre and achievement to the work of the church," he said.

Finances Sound.

The report on stewardship and finance, submitted by the retiring moderator, set forth that with but one exception all church boards paid in full for last year's work and were able also to accumulate surpluses which were applied against indebtedness incurred during previous years.

The following budgets for the various boards were recommended by the committee:

Foreign missions, $600,000; home missions, $268,150; ministerial relief, $208,553; religious education, $71,641.

day near the plant of the Electric Auto-Lite Company, where a walk-out of workers led to the current disorders. A boy was struck by a test gas bomb yesterday and a man was stripped and beaten.

Washington was concerned with the menace of a possible final fight between industry and unionism this summer. President William Green, of the American Federation of Labor, described the situation as "ominous."

Stable Forecast.

M. F. Tighe, president of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, forecast a strike of steel workers unless recognition is granted by mid-June. His assertion followed expressions of opposition to professional unions voiced at the iron and steel institute meeting in New York by executives.

A federal mediation board took up its peace-making tasks again on the Pacific coast in the face of threats of a showdown battle advanced by the San Francisco locals of the Longshoremen's Union in their campaign for complete recognition. The Seattle Chamber of Commerce appealed to President Roosevelt to break the impasse, which has involved about 25,000 waterfront workers and impeded shipping.

241; assembly's training school, $39,500.

General reductions in appropriations for assembly agencies sent to every congregation also were recommended "so that the total appropriations are reduced from $2,000,000 to $1,300,000."

The report gave high praise to Dr. Edward D. Grant, of Nashville, Tenn., for his work as acting secretary of the committee and urged his retention.

Smith Case Reopened.

Consideration of a report of an ad interim committee on union with all the Presbyterian denominations in the United States was carried over until next year when the assembly voted to continue the committee. It decided, however, to make the new moderator chairman of the committee.

No final action was taken on a report on comity and closer relations with the Associate Reformed Presbyterian church. The report was referred to the foreign relations committee pending word from the associate synod of its official action taken at its recent assembly at Bon Clark, N. C.

Overtures from several presbyteries relating to the faith of Dr. Hay Watson Smith, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, of Little Rock, Ark., were received and assigned to a committee. Some of the half dozen overtures asked that the presbytery of Arkansas be directed to reopen the case.

The Smith controversy, involving the ouster of the minister's beliefs, was first brought up at the 1929 assembly and has been taken up at several subsequent sessions. Previous actions on the charges, based on the minister's "liberal" views, has resulted in the finding that there was not sufficient evidence for a decision against him.

From the synod of north Mississippi came an overture asking the assembly to decline to consider petitions from any source on the Little Rock minister's case, and that it be dropped. This, too, was sent to a committee.

Committee Chairmen.

Judge Sibley appointed the following as chairmen of standing committees:

Bills and overtures, Dr. Ernest Thompson, Charleston, W. Va.

Medical business, Dr. W. E. Hill, Richmond, Va.

Stewardship and finance, the Rev. C. T. Caldwell, Waco, Texas.

Foreign relations, the Rev. M. M. MacFarland, Augusta, Ga.

Foreign missions, the Rev. U. S. Gordon, Gainesville, Fla.

Home missions, the Rev. A. L. Little, Madison, Miss.

Christian education and ministerial relief, the Rev. J. S. Foster, Winston-Salem, N. C.

Theological education and publication, the Rev. J. S. Land, New Orleans.

Finance, budget and rules, the Rev. W. J. Caldwell, Yacoo City, Miss.

FIRST-STATE CARPENTER BECOME JUDGE INSTEAD

A man who would have made a first-rate carpenter but instead chose the law became a judge in the first district United States court of appeals today was elected moderator of the Presbyterian church in the United States.

Put on a spot where most men would have twiddled their thumbs, Samuel Hale Sibley spent his time pouring over law books and is now regarded as one of the most learned judges in the south but a fancy hammer and his workshop and home at Marietta, Ga., are filled with works of the carpenter's art that would excite the envy of a professional cabinet-maker.

Judge Sibley was born in Union Point, Ga., then a village of but a few souls, 61 years ago. He attended the University of Georgia, where he roomed with Eugene R. Black, who now is governor of the federal reserve board.

Studied and Taught.

After graduating with honors, Judge Sibley studied law and taught Latin and Greek while doing it. He returned to Union Point and opened a law office. He didn't have a stenographer nor even a telephone but the lack of the latter forced clients to go long ways to see him and resulted in much spare time, which he spent laboring over the law and building the background of his later standing.

After serving as a county and city judge he was appointed a federal district judge for the northern district of Georgia in 1919 by President Wilson. President Hoover elevated him to the circuit court.

As a jurist it is noted for his simplicity and directness, and the clarity of his statements from the bench. He is keen-eyed, he has been forward on the bench and follows arguments with alert attention, frequently interrupting attorneys with pointed questions that will make more simple their arguments over technicalities and vague sections of law.

Popular Jurist.

His profound knowledge of law and his ability to change legal terms into simple, direct language made him popular not only with attorneys but with juries and litigants.

He has been a member of the Presbyterian church since boyhood and a Sunday school teacher since young manhood. His knowledge of the Bible is like that of his understanding of his law books and a knack of practical application of his teachings to everyday life has made him popular as a speaker at church functions.

When men gather around he says little but listens attentively to what others have to say and then when he does speak, an associate said today, everybody else listens.

Virginia Bruce Gets Quick Divorce From John Gilbert in Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, May 25.—(AP)—It took just three minutes today for a court to sever the marriage bonds of John Gilbert, exponent of burning love on the screen, and Virginia Bruce, former Follies beauty.

By answering "yes" a few times to the questions of her attorneys, the bride of a year and eight months became the fourth ex-mate of the actor. She was given custody of their 9-month-old daughter, Susan Ann Gilbert.

Jean Bray, secretary to Miss Bruce, provided the corroborating testimony, asserting the actor was intoxicated most of the time during a trip to New York via the Panama canal just before their baby was born, and that he was abusive to Mrs. Gilbert on the voyage.

"Is the property settlement you made with Mr. Gilbert satisfactory?" was the first question asked of Miss Bruce by her attorney.

He held up a document by which she is to receive $42,500 worth of property, $150 a month for the support of their baby, and $92.31 for herself monthly for three years.

"Yes," she replied.

"Is everything you charge in your complaint true?" was the second question.

"Yes," she answered quietly.

It was after this that Miss Bray, the secretary, took the stand.

Thus ended the fourth comparatively brief real life romance of Gilbert.

He was an extra in March, 1917, when he married Olivia Burwell, a Mississippi girl. It was not many months before the bride went home to her mother. A divorce resulted in 1922.

In March, 1923, the actor, who by this time had won attention as a screen lover, married Letrice Joy of the films. A daughter was born to them. They were divorced in August, 1924.

For four years Hollywood gossip frequently linked Gilbert's name with romances, and in May, 1929, Ina Claire, stage and screen actress, became his third bride. Final divorce papers in this romance were recorded in August, 1932.

In the same month, Virginia Helen Bruce, who came to the screen from the Follies under the name of Virginia Bruce, became the fourth Mrs. John Gilbert.

Woman Seeks Election As Colorado Governor

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(AP)—Colorado is going to have a chance to elect a woman governor.

Miss Josephine Roche, president of the Rocky Mountain Fuel Company, known beyond the borders of her state as a woman industrialist who has championed organized labor, said today she was a candidate for the governorship.

In Washington to confer with friends, she promised full support to President Roosevelt and said she would announce her platform soon.

complaint true?" was the second question.

"Yes," she answered quietly.

It was after this that Miss Bray, the secretary, took the stand.

Thus ended the fourth comparatively brief real life romance of Gilbert.

CITIES SERVICE-RISE TOLD BY U. S. AGENTS

Write-Ups of Nearly Quarter Billion Dollars Are Detailed.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(AP)—The federal trade commission today completed its story of how Henry L. Doherty built up the Cities Service Company to a billion dollar concern and retained control with a comparatively small investment.

The story was told by Robert E. Healy, commission counsel, and A. E. Lundvall, commission investigator, who has spent two years tracing the growth and methods of the company from its inception in 1910 as a $36,000,000 property to its billion dollar status in 1930.

Major items in Lundvall's report detailed write-ups of nearly a quarter billion dollars and the creation of giant holding companies whose actual business functions were nominal. Commission experts term a write-up an appreciation of book value without additions to capital investment or plant.

Exception to most of Lundvall's findings were taken by Robert Buras, Cities Service counsel, who denied there were any unfair valuation increases; indorsed the holding company method of financing and defended Doherty's control by pointing to the approval given his operations in stockholders' meetings.

Lundvall said a million shares of special stock, worth only a dollar a share and with one vote a share was created and sold to Doherty so it increased his control from less than 5 per cent to nearly 30 per cent, or more than ample, Lundvall testified, to control the billion dollar system.

Buras said this stock was created with the approval of stockholders for the purpose of preventing the intrusion of speculative interests.

Continental Life In Hands of State

ST. LOUIS, May 25.—(AP)—The Continental Life Insurance Company, with nearly $100,000,000 of insurance in force, was placed in the hands of the state insurance department today by Circuit Judge O'Neill Ryan, who decided the bitterly-contested dissolution suit filed last January by Insurance Superintendent R. E. O'Malley.

O'Malley alleged the company, headed by Ed Mays, one-time Arkansas farm boy, was impaired to an extent rendering it insolvent, and that it had been so grossly mismanaged that its continued operation by those in charge of it would be hazardous to the policy holders.

The company has almost 50,000 policy holders.

Mays, who testified for many days as the defense's principal witness, denied O'Malley's allegations.

Blevins To Be Buried Near Candler Field

Noted Aviator Will Rest Close to Airport He Aided in Developing.

Beeler Blevins, the dean of Atlanta aviators, will be buried this afternoon near Candler field where for many years he worked for the development of aviation in the southeast.

Simple funeral rites will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Hapeville Baptist church by the Rev. Z. E. Barron. Interment will be in the College Park cemetery, less than a mile from the spot where Blevins first landed his plane when Candler field was an old race track.

Doug Davis, T. F. Johnson, Mackey Solenberger, J. F. Byrd, A. R. Seaman and Gus Leazar, who were close friends of Blevins for years, will act as pallbearers. The body will lie in state at the Hapeville church for one hour preceding the funeral.

The noted aviator died early Thursday morning of injuries received Wednesday night when his car collided with a truck on Stewart avenue. The Williams Funeral Home is in charge of the arrangements.

Proposed Slash in Tax on Tobacco May Bring Low Prices for Consumer

WASHINGTON, May 25.—A departure in recovery economics—designed for once to lower consumer prices—was proposed to the house today when its ways and means committee reported a bill to reduce tobacco taxes 40 per cent.

The tobacco companies have agreed to pass all of the reduction on to the consumer, so that a 15-cent pack of cigarettes will sell instead for 10.

To the accomplishment of a great advertising campaign, an effort will be made, if the bill passes, to increase consumption to a point where the federal treasury may not, after all, lose very much by the tax reduction.

Should the plan work, lower liquor taxes may follow, and the whole trend of administration efforts to rectify prices for recovery may be affected.

Already urgent proposals have been brought forward in congress to clip down the liquor levies in the hope that bootlegging may be driven out, and the legal liquor trade be put on a basis where lower prices will mean increased treasury returns.

One of the basic economic policies of the administration has been to restore prices to a normal level. In various ways emphasis has been placed on a restoration to the level of 1926. No feature of the government's trade reports has been scanned more diligently by high officials than the price index.

In approving the tobacco tax reduction bill yesterday, ways and means committee members did not go into that feature of the situation. They treated it strictly as an excise tax measure, taking the position that present levies were unfair.

Representative Vinson, democrat, Kentucky, who introduced the bill, pointed out that the existing rates were determined after adoption of the prohibition amendment, to plug a gap in government receipts.

He added, however, that the proposed reduction might be expected to mean far greater sales to consumers, with the result that the sum total of taxes would not diminish as much as some might suppose.

ATLANTA LEAGUE BACKS TAX REFORM CAMPAIGN

The Atlanta Taxpayers' league is solidly behind the proposal of the Georgia State Federation of Taxpayers' Leagues in its drive to obtain tax reforms, it was announced Friday by A. S. Hopkins, vice president of the local organization.

Hopkins said the state program has been indorsed by unanimous vote of the Atlanta organization, formerly headed by Robert C. Mizell, newly-elected president of the state group.

Plans have been laid to resist any increase in governmental expenditures until the general property tax has been abandoned and a "comprehensive system requiring fair contribution from all citizens and others who gain money in Georgia has been adopted."

FLORIDA RECAPTURES 5 ESCAPED CONVICTS

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., May 25.—(AP)—Five convicts, who escaped from prison several days ago, today had all been captured and returned to the camps.

They were Henry Lee Lindsey, Raymond Duarte and Paul LaGare, all white, and two negroes, Johnnie Slater and George Durden.

LA. ROAD FUNDS TIED UP BY COURT

New Orleans Wins Point in Battle for State Maintenance Payment.

BATON ROUGE, La., May 25.—(AP)—Another round of the city of New Orleans vs. the State of Louisiana battle was fought today and when the legal dust clouds cleared away the state highway commission found all its funds bottled up.

The political set, which has gained in crescendo since Senator Huey P. Long's candidates were defeated in the majority election of January, entered a new phase which left the road body with its hands, figuratively, in the air, declaring that employees would have to be let off and all work stopped.

Under the state constitution, the highway commission is directed to pay the city $700,000 annually in quarterly installments for construction and maintenance of its streets in the highway system. For several quarters the payment was not made.

The city went into the courts and won decision after decision in the East Baton Rouge parish court and supreme court—all ultimately directing the state to make the payments. Today, Judge George K. Farret in the local court, directed the commission to place in escrow $175,000, the amount due March 31, or refrain from paying out any revenues for any other purpose.

Attorney-General Gaston L. Porter promptly informed the court that he would immediately appeal to the supreme court for a mandamus to permit filing of an intervention to restrain the commission from paying out money owed the city except on a pro rata basis with other constitutional obligations.

Meanwhile, in the legislature now in session, a bill has been introduced to amend the state constitution by repealing the provision for the annual payment to New Orleans.

"The money won't be put up, and that's all there is to it," said A. P. Tugwell, chairman of the commission. "The highway commission hasn't any money, so we cannot put up the $175,000."

As matters stand now, the court order prohibits the commission from expending any money from the general fund until the $175,000 payment is made.

MRS. LIVSEY WINS HASTINGS' ROSE CUP

The judges at Hastings' annual rose show on Friday awarded the trophy for the best single Talisman rose to Mrs. J. T. Livsey, of 306 East Cleveland street, East Point. Her rose was in full bloom and was one of several entries made.

The new Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt yellow rose and 200 other varieties will continue to be shown today, the show being given at the H. G. Hastings Company's headquarters, Mitchell at Broad streets, from 9 to 5 o'clock.

Mrs. Florence Burns, of Cleveland, in cooperation with the Georgia Power Company, delivered a lecture Friday afternoon on the lighting of gardens by electricity.

She explained that the lighting is for the purpose of emphasizing at night certain beauties of the garden, such as foliage in bloom, or effective settings, rather than the garden as a whole. She illustrated the lecture with slides in black and white and in color.

The lighting is achieved by floodlights and either overhead or underground wiring may be used, she said.

SHOW FURNISHINGS ARE EXPECTED TODAY

Two carloads of furniture for the style show of modern bedrooms is expected to arrive in Atlanta this afternoon in preparation for reconstructing the ballroom of the Shrine mosque into the 16 rooms of the Modern American Guild's show. Arthur Drake, property man, arrived yesterday.

Due to the show, only 16 of the 18 rooms can be set up, said Miss Frances E. Wolfe, director of the show. Miss Wolfe reported that Mount Vernon at the Paris exposition in 1931 for the United States government.

The style show will formally open to the public Monday evening, with a preview in the afternoon. Hotel and apartment managers from the entire state of Georgia have indicated that they are coming to Atlanta to see the exhibit. Special trains from Asheville and Charlotte, N. C., and Macon, Augusta, Athens, Columbus, Rome, Dalton, West Point and Savannah will also attend the show.

Atlanta is one of the four southern cities in the 40 major cities of the United States which will see the show.

Three Men Indicted In Robbery of Safes

Indictments charging safe robbery and possession of burglary tools were returned against J. Williams, 47; Paul Rivers, 27, and John Murphy, 27, Friday by the Fulton county grand jury.

Rivers and Murphy were indicted on four counts—robbery of the safes at the Hilliard Heating & Plumbing Company, 214 Lee street; the Automobile Piston Company, 492 Courtland street; and the Jewel Tea Company, at 424 Courtland street; and for possession of burglary tools.

Williams, an escaped life term from Oklahoma, was indicted on the same counts with the exception of the robbery of the Hilliard Heating & Plumbing Company. Officers said he did not participate in this job.

A woman, Mrs. Carol Cook, was taken into custody by City Detective E. S. Arce at the same time the men were arrested but detectives said she will be released.

JUST FOUR INCHES FROM DEATH!

© 1930 THOMAS W. BRIGGS CO.

FRANK L. MILLER

Thousands of years ago a Greek warrior said to his men:
"The side of our ship is only four inches thick. Remember, YOU ARE JUST FOUR INCHES FROM DEATH."

Today—automobiles speed by on crowded thoroughfares. Often the Grim Reaper is riding astride the hood. Tons of steel and glass whirl by within a few inches.

Consider every moving automobile a potentially dangerous weapon. IN THE HANDS OF THE CARELESS, THOUGHTLESS OR INCOMPETENT DRIVER IT IS OFTEN A DEADLY WEAPON!

There were nearly 3,000 automobile accidents, fatal, serious and non-serious, in the Atlanta area last year. One hundred twenty-seven of these resulted fatally. A large proportion of the victims were pedestrians. This year we started out in a fair way to EVEN EXCEED THIS DISGRACEFUL RECORD. The record is coming down as motorists and pedestrians are beginning to THINK and LOOK and LISTEN—but the utmost care must be continued and eternal vigilance exercised if we are to really SAVE ATLANTA'S LIFE AND LIMB.

The modern driver has a really serious responsibility. Like the ancient Greek sailor he is often "inches from death."

The secret of safe driving is constant alertness and COMMON SENSE!

To avoid injuring yourself or others KEEP YOUR EYES ON THE ROAD, YOUR HANDS ON THE STEERING WHEEL AND YOUR MIND ON THE ONE JOB OF DRIVING!

PLAY SAFE! BE CAREFUL!

ATLANTA, GA., MAY 26, 1934.

THE MAYOR RIGHT—AGAIN!

A year ago the school department, by charter amendment, was apportioned 30 per cent of the total income of the city government—an increase of 4 per cent over the 26 per cent additional of previous years.

Notwithstanding this increase in the revenues of the department, council now proposes, by circuitous route and in defiance of the budget and the effect on the city's credit, to still further increase the school income by providing $212,000 additional for salary purposes.

The mayor very promptly and correctly vetoed the measure and in addition, calls attention to the fact that even if council should override his veto, neither he nor the city comptroller can legally sign the checks from the additional payments.

It is incomprehensible that council should have enacted such a measure.

Certainly the allotment of nearly one-third of the city's total income is reasonable and fair to the schools.

Anything beyond that means the sacrifice of other vitally important municipal functions.

While the schools have secured an increase in the per cent of the city's revenue they receive, other departments have, as a result, had to receive less. These other departments should certainly not be further penalized in order that the schools may get still more of their revenues, and, above all, the city's credit should not be put in jeopardy by such an ill-advised measure.

The mayor is to be congratulated on having the courage to stand firmly back of the city's adopted budget.

To go beyond it, as is proposed in this instance, will be a menace to the city's credit.

This is not the first time that he has assumed such a stand, and his attitude in this respect has done more than anything else to guard the city's credit.

Every department of the city government must realize that it must stand within the budget allocations. For one department to go beyond the budget, means that beyond the budget, means that they will attempt the same thing, and this carried to its logical conclusion would mean that the city, like many others throughout the country that have been reckless of their expenditures, would be faced with bankruptcy.

The one safe course is to keep within the budget, and the mayor is entitled to and should receive the approval of the public for his courageous stand in this last assault on the city's credit.

HOW DOLLAR IS STABILIZED.

The Constitution is in receipt of several inquiries from readers as to just how the dollar is "stabilized" by the stabilization fund of $2,000,000 created three months ago.

While there are many ramifications to currency stabilization, the basic use to which this fund will be put is comparatively simple.

The dollar, like any commodity for security, advances or falls in value in relation to other currencies as it is bought or sold. If the demand on foreign exchange is large, either by merchants for the settlement of trade accounts, or by speculators, the value of the dollar in comparison with other currencies moves up.

If, on the other hand, the merchants are selling dollars to secure other currencies for trading purposes, and speculators are going short on the dollar, it will go down in comparative value.

The American government will watch the dollar trading on foreign exchanges and, with the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund at its command, it will be a simple matter to equalize this buying and selling. In other words, if a wave of selling should send the dollar down, its effect would be counteracted by purchases by this government—a process that would be reversed in the event of over-heavy foreign buying.

The second function of the stabilization fund is the protection of the value of government securities, which will be effected in the same manner as in the case of the dollar—by buying when quotations go to low and selling when they reach a satisfactory level.

JUSTICE RUSSELL'S ILLNESS.

Report of the steady improvement of Chief Justice Richard B. Russell, of the supreme court, from the illness that has confined him to the hospital for several days, will be welcomed.

Justice Russell has long been one of Georgia's most distinguished and useful public leaders. He is one of the "grand old men of Georgia," occupying a unique position of affection and respect in the hearts of a host of Georgians.

A man of rugged character and profound knowledge of the law, Justice Russell has for many years been one of the leaders of the southern bar, and his decisions on weighty and intricate questions of law are widely quoted, not only in this state but throughout the country.

The honors which the people of Georgia have bestowed upon him and the prominent position in the public life of the state that he has occupied for so long and in so distinguished a manner have made him one of the state's outstanding figures.

The state will be glad to know that he is apparently well on the way to recovery.

THE EQUAL NATIONALITY BILL.

The equalization of nationality rights in the United States as between men and women is sought in the so-called equal nationality bill which has been passed by the house and is now pending in the senate.

The enfranchisement of women in 1920 left them with the stigma of unequal rights in the case of a number of important phases of citizenship. The Cable act, passed by congress in 1922, was aimed at equalizing these rights, but it was found that it fell short of its purpose and the law was amended in 1930 and again in 1931. The measure now pending removes the last remaining discriminations against women in our nationality laws.

Among these discriminations are denial of the right of the mother to transmit nationality to the minor child born abroad of an alien father; denial of the right of an alien woman to transmit nationality to her minor children upon her own naturalization; and denial of the right of the husband to renounce citizenship on the same terms as the wife upon marriage to an alien.

Led by Great Britain and France, practically all of the nations of the world have within the past few years enacted laws giving women equality of citizenship in their own right, and the measure now pending in congress will merely place this country in the same position in this respect as the majority of other nations.

The measure is receiving the earnest support of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the National Federation of Business and Professional Women, the National Council of Jewish Women, the Southern Women's National Democratic Association and every other outstanding women's organization in the country.

In view of the fact that the measure contemplates merely the extension of the same equality in nationality questions that the nineteenth amendment does in political matters, there can be no sound objection to it from any source.

Now that society has taken to onion soup, we need a law to protect people from society.

People yearn for the simple things of life only after they acquire all of the grand things.

The new automobile models are equipped with everything except an emergency operating room.

This is the age of plenty, says Dr. Glenn Frank. Sure, plenty of trouble.

You have to continually practice Christianity. No one ever perfects himself in it.

What's become of the old-fashioned girl who attempted to swim the English channel?

Children are no longer little martyrs, says a writer. No, now the martyrs are the parents.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

The Present Crisis.

"The present situation in the world is not only a crisis in the current sense," says a famous English scholar, "as a turning point in human history, when the future of mankind hangs in the balance for progress or disaster, but it is also a crisis in the original sense of the Greek word (krisis), a judgment of God, when the ways and works of the modern world are on trial before the tribunal of His purpose for mankind. The harvest of distress and discord, anxiety and unrest, suffering and wrong, which the world is reaping, is no arbitrary imposition of the divine omnipotence, no penalty external to the transgression but the inevitable and inescapable law that as a man sows, so shall he also reap."

This is a theological interpretation of the present crisis, and it has this value that it recognizes that there is such a thing as a crisis in human affairs. It took a long time for theologians to come to that point. They were beginning to "read the signs of the times," as Jesus did, Jesus lived at a critical juncture of the history of the people of Jerusalem and the shadow of the coming doom of Jerusalem falls over all the pages of the gospel. Jesus understood the signs of the times and interpreted them correctly.

The Solution.

The solution is a far different matter. What can the churches do? What can the theologians do? What can the preachers do in the present circumstances? In my estimation they should take the side of the common people and stop looking at the eyes of the church members. They should support the masses, but they will win the masses. The masses still look to the churches for guidance, especially in the United States. They don't in Europe, any more. Over here they have been disappointed so often in the churches that they have turned to the church members. It is no wonder at all that some of the progressive social movements in Europe are bitterly anti-church and anti-religious.

"What did the masses expect from the church?" asked a Russian author. "They expected to see Jesus in the streets. When I went to hear him preach, 'What did they expect?' And he answered: 'Everything!'

"And what did they get?" he asked next. And he answered: "Nothing!" He meant nothing by way of real, consistent support in their various struggles. They got plenty of soft soap, though.

HEALTH TALKS

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY

ASTHMA IN CHILDREN.

Heredity is an important predisposing cause of asthma. The asthma itself is not directly transmitted from parent to child, but rather a peculiar constitutional sensitivity to certain foreign substances which enter the body by inhalation, by ingestion or by absorption, and produce a characteristic reaction called allergy. In one member of the family this may manifest itself as an attack of hives or repeated attacks of hives (urticaria); in another (angioneurotic edema); in a third the reaction occurs as eczema; in another it may be hay fever; in another asthma, some such condition is found in the family history in more than two-thirds of all cases of asthma.

In a striking number of cases the first allergic reaction of whatever type, in infancy occurs immediately after the first feeding of egg-white. 94 cases of asthma in children under 15 years of age, the patients were found to be sensitive to these foods: egg-white, 13 cases; chicken, 8 cases; cereal, 12 cases; milk, 10 cases; fish, 10 cases; beef, 8 cases; nuts, 7 cases; pea, 4 cases; potato, 2 cases, and one case each of orange, chocolate, celery, cinnamon, cauliflower, etc. Sensitivity is determined by applying a minute quantity of the pure substance to a slight scratch on the skin; if the individual is sensitive to the substance so applied, a wheal or swelling appears at the site of inoculation within an hour or two.

The principal air-borne substances to which children are sensitive are house dust, ragweed pollen, feathers, animal dander, grass pollen, orris root, cottonseed, kapok, silk, etc.

We told here November 19, 1929, the story of the doctor's child who had a way of getting an attack of asthma every time dad and mama took him to the grand old place in the country, and they blamed it on a gentlemanly cat they played with in grandma's barn. But eventually they discovered the cause of the trouble. It was not the cat, but the hay in the barn. When they removed silk from the child's environment he got along with only rare and mild attacks. Pretty hard to give everything wearing silk the air, you know. Embarrassing, too, to ask the patient's nurse to wear no silk on duty.

The principal air-borne substances to which children are sensitive are house dust, ragweed pollen, feathers, animal dander, grass pollen, orris root, cottonseed, kapok, silk, etc.

We told here November 19, 1929, the story of the doctor's child who had a way of getting an attack of asthma every time dad and mama took him to the grand old place in the country, and they blamed it on a gentlemanly cat they played with in grandma's barn. But eventually they discovered the cause of the trouble. It was not the cat, but the hay in the barn. When they removed silk from the child's environment he got along with only rare and mild attacks. Pretty hard to give everything wearing silk the air, you know. Embarrassing, too, to ask the patient's nurse to wear no silk on duty.

In a striking number of cases the first allergic reaction of whatever type, in infancy occurs immediately after the first feeding of egg-white. 94 cases of asthma in children under 15 years of age, the patients were found to be sensitive to these foods: egg-white, 13 cases; chicken, 8 cases; cereal, 12 cases; milk, 10 cases; fish, 10 cases; beef, 8 cases; nuts, 7 cases; pea, 4 cases; potato, 2 cases, and one case each of orange, chocolate, celery, cinnamon, cauliflower, etc. Sensitivity is determined by applying a minute quantity of the pure substance to a slight scratch on the skin; if the individual is sensitive to the substance so applied, a wheal or swelling appears at the site of inoculation within an hour or two.

Definite Birth Control Stand Avoided by Club Federation

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., May 25.—(AP)—Closing its consideration of three major controversial questions—birth control, equal rights and old age pensions—the council of the general federation of Women's Clubs today voted at its final session here to include in its program of study material both supporting and opposing each.

The council, which for the first time in its history allowed open discussion of controversial subjects on the floor of the convention, previously had adopted resolutions of temperance, and voicing approval of the general principles of the Copeland bill to extend the scope of food and drug regulatory laws.

At the same time, the federation departed from its program to score action of the house ways and means committee for removal of sections of the firearms bill now before congress which would have regulated sale of pistols and revolvers.

Approval of the investigation of profits made by munitions manufacturers, provided by the Nye-Brandenburg resolution also was voted by the federation today in adopting a resolution presented by Mrs. Sears R. McLean, of Holland, Mich.

In the third debate of the convention, Mrs. Irene Sylvester Chubb, representing the Missouri League of Women Voters, supported the plan of old age pensions, while Noel Sargent, secretary of National Association of Manufacturers, opposed the plan.

Mrs. Chubb gave in detail the results of study of conditions under which displaced workers and the aged are being supported, and recalled that 25 states now have legislation covering the problem.

Sargent stressed that provisions for young workers should be made, declaring "investigation has failed to show as wide displacement of old workers as many would have us."

Eleven candidates were presented at the night session, known as "general federation president's night," sponsored by their state presidents for election in Detroit next year at the triennial convention.

Presentation at the night session of 11 candidates sponsored by their state presidents for election in Detroit next year at the triennial convention, was one of the closing events on the program.

For President: Mrs. Roberta Campbell Lawson, of Tulsa, now first vice president of the federation, and Dr. Joseph L. Peirce, of Lima, Ohio, second vice president, to succeed Mrs. Grace Morrison Toole, of Brockton, Massachusetts.

For First Vice President: Mrs. Sadie Orr Dunbar, Portland, Ore., now recording secretary, unopposed.

For Second Vice President: Mrs. Walter W. Seymour, of Chicago; Mrs. Walter S. Conly, Port Chester, N. Y.; Mrs. Albert E. Jones, Lisbon, North Dakota.

For Recording Secretary: Mrs. Arch Trawick, Nashville, Tenn.; Mrs. J. L. R. Buck, Richmond, Va.; Mrs. John S. Harvey, Huntington, W. Va.

For Treasurer: Mrs. Lafelle Dickinson, Keene, N. H.; Mrs. Laura V. McMullen, Montpelier, Vt.

RULING IS REFUSED ON ANTI-AAA SUIT

Federal Judge Declines To Dismiss Action To Bar Wallace Probe.

BALTIMORE, May 25.—(AP)—United States District Judge W. Calvin Chestnut today refused to dismiss an action, brought in federal court to restrain the agricultural adjustment administration from investigating the books of a local dairy on the defense plea that Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, was outside the jurisdiction of the court.

Judge Chestnut declared he would not, if he could possibly avoid it, settle anything so fundamental to the rights of every citizen of Maryland and of the United States as the question at issue in the suit without a full hearing on the merits of the case.

The suit was filed in court by Charles G. Page and George White, attorneys for the Royal Farms Dairy, against Secretary Wallace and four officials of the adjustment fund committee for Maryland of the AAA.

The plaintiff asked that the defendants should not be allowed to inspect the dairy's books because the AAA was unconstitutional. Page, in court today, argued that the act tended to deprive a citizen of his property without due process of law and held the business of the dairy was interstate and not intrastate.

Other defendants. Named with Wallace as defendants were Clinton L. Rigg, George S. Jackson and Isaac W. Heaps, who comprise the adjustment fund committee, and Alonzo L. Miles, auditor of the committee.

William L. Marbury Jr., counsel for the four officials of the committee, asked for dismissal of the suit, setting out that under the law the secretary of agriculture had his residence in Washington and could not be sued in the Maryland district court of the United States unless he chose to come here. Marbury added Wallace did not choose.

Marbury also argued that unless the secretary of agriculture were brought into the suit the whole matter would have to be dismissed as he was "an indispensable party" and that the other defendants were simply his agents.

After Marbury had asked the court to rule on this question of procedure before taking up the constitutional questions involved, Judge Chestnut asked him whether he was prepared to admit the constitutional contentions raised by the counsel for the dairy company, should the court overrule the procedure objections raised by the defense. The counsel said the defense would not admit them and would require some time in which to prepare answers to them.

Decision Waits Hearing. Judge Chestnut then pointed out that the questions raised by the petitioner for the injunction were the most fundamental questions raised in that court in many years and he did not wish to make any decision as important as the constitutionality of a full and complete hearing on the merits of the case.

It is a startling proposition, the jurist asserted, that a citizen of the United States shall be deprived of his constitutional rights, if he is being so deprived as contended by the plaintiff, because he cannot sue the secretary of agriculture in the citizen's own state.

5 Agnes Scott Seniors Named to Phi Beta Kappa

Five Agnes Scott College seniors who Friday morning were announced as members of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity. Left to right, they are: Sybil Grant, of Atlanta; Elinor Hamilton, Dalton; Mary Hamilton, Dalton; Janie Lapsley, Roanoke, Va., whose father, Dr. R. A. Lapsley, is to deliver the baccalaureate address Sunday at Agnes Scott; and Elizabeth Winn, of Greenville, S. C. Dr. Catherine Torrance, head of the Greek department at the college, made the announcement. Staff photo.

Murchison Approved Quickly by Senate

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(AP)—The senate today gave quick approval to the nomination of Claudius T. Murchison, of Chapel Hill, N. C., as director of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce.

Confirmation was given at the request of Senator Bailey, democrat, North Carolina, who said he had to leave the city and wanted to get the nomination acted upon.

The commerce committee had given its unanimous approval to the nomination only an hour previously.

The answer to that proposition, the jurist went on, might be that the secretary of agriculture can only sue and enforce his regulations by going to the place where the citizen lives. Judge Chestnut also expressed amazement that the state of Maryland was not represented in court during the arguments.

Agnes Scott Graduate Awarded 1934 Beck Foundation Scholarship

The coveted Beck Foundation scholarship, a special memorial to the late Lewis H. Beck, who was founder of the Beck and Gregg Hardware Company and one of the nation's leading educational philanthropists, has been awarded to Miss Virginia Heard, of Decatur, Ga., a post-graduate student at Emory University since her graduation with highest honors last year from Agnes Scott College, Dr. J. R. McCain, president of the Decatur girls school, announced Friday.

The scholarship, which has a maximum annual provision of $2,000 for two years, or three if necessary, at any college or university in the world of the student's choice was voted to Miss Heard Thursday by the foundation's board of trustees at a meeting here. Five other students who sought the award were Charles E. Brown, Barnesville, Ga., and Hudson C. Ward, Marietta, Ga., both of Emory University; William Towers Maddox, Rome, Ga., and James Perry Knight, Atlanta, who with Miss Heard, represented Agnes Scott.

The trustees were said to have experienced difficulty in reaching a decision, as the records of all applicants were exceptionally noteworthy.

Conditions of the award are much the same as those prescribed by the Rhodes Foundation except that under the stipulations set forth by Mr. Beck before his death the student to whom the scholarship is given must have been enrolled in a Georgia school and be a member of Phi Beta Kappa. Unlike the Rhodes award, both boys and girls are eligible.

Mrs. Miriam Waters Jenkins, secretary of the Beck Foundation, said Friday that Miss Heard, who is majoring in chemistry, will utilize the award by continuing her studies probably at the University of Michigan or in Copenhagen, Denmark. She will seek a Ph. D. degree.

Guard Who Killed Robbers Denies It Was Act of Revenge

(The following story was told by the guard at the South Holland, Ill., bank after he had slain one robber and fatally wounded another today.)

By JACOB DE YOUNG.

(As Told to the Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, May 25.—(AP)—It's not a comfortable thought to realize that you've killed a man, maybe two, but it's some satisfaction for the fine son that you've had shot down without warning and without a chance even to surrender, much less to fight back.

When Peter was killed February 10, I made up my mind that, if I ever met any bank bandits, it would be on my terms.

But when Police Chief Lagastee told me they were in town and looked like they might be going to rob the bank, I wasn't thinking of revenge. It was my duty to protect this bank and that's all I was trying to do.

So when these four fellows ran in yelling like Indians I just watched them for a second. One of them, with a sawedoff shotgun came up to the second window and covered Mr. Watterman, the president. Another started to climb over the glass partition. I figured that if I shot the second, the first would have killed Mr. Watterman. So I took aim at the first and shot him through the chest.

Then I got the other one through the stomach and he fell off the partition. I was using a 30-caliber automatic rifle and I fired five shots altogether.

I feel bad when I think of these fellows, but I feel worse when I think of Peter. He was my only son and he left a wife and a baby and he was just getting ready to take my place. These fellows got into the bank during the night and they shot him down right there in front of the vault as he came in to substitute for me that morning.

It's a disgrace to our government to tolerate these fellows. If they had surrendered, they might have gotten a little jail sentence or might have been rescued some way. But the dead ones can't shoot down anybody any more.

It didn't occur to me to be afraid of these fellows. It's all in the state of your conscience. I was chief of police here for 20 years and if I had taken all the money that was offered me I wouldn't have to be working here now. But I didn't, so I could face these bandits with a real advantage over them. We've always kept this town clean and I guess it will stay that way now for a while.

But still and all it is some satisfaction when I think of poor Pete.

Japanese Mother Kills Baby and Self in Fire

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25.—(AP)—Leaving a note saying "it is best that I do this," a Japanese mother carried her 11-month-old son to a flaming death with her last night in the Japanese tea garden at Golden Gate park.

The woman, Mrs. Aiko Hagiwara, 29, police said, drenched herself and her son with gasoline, applied a match and leaped into a rubbish pit at the tea garden where, a short time before she had served guests.

3 Hoover States of '32 Back Roosevelt Acts in Straw Poll

NEW YORK, May 25.—(AP)—The second week's tabulation of the Literary Digest's poll on the New Deal showed today three states voting confidence in President Roosevelt which in 1932 turned to President Hoover.

Although gaining three republican strongholds, the magazine's poll revealed the president's support shrinking from the two-one lead tabulated the first week to the basis of three-to-two this week.

Of 195,454 votes tallied, the latest count gives him an affirmative vote amounting to 61.64 per cent. This is against 60.19 per cent on the basis of the first week's tabulation.

The first votes from the six new voting states of Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Vermont are recorded this week.

Connecticut, New Hampshire and Vermont favored the New Deal on this poll, although voting for Mr. Hoover in 1932. Maine voted disapproval, 1,223 to 1,151, maintaining its 1932 attitude. It is the first state giving a majority against Roosevelt.

Pennsylvania, for Hoover in 1932, increased its approval of the New Deal and in the two weeks of balloting gave a larger affirmative percentage of its vote than any other state from which returns have been made so far.

The shrinking of votes favorable to the president, the Literary Digest found, was traceable largely to returns from New York state, which contributed 91,740 votes—nearly one-half of all the returns.

The table of returns:

State	Total	For	Against
New York	91,740	58,342	33,398
New Jersey	27,751	16,140	11,611
Pennsylvania	42,551	27,314	15,237
Connecticut	6,286	3,673	2,613
Maine	2,404	1,181	1,223
Massachusetts	20,127	11,276	8,851
New Hampshire	1,802	945	857
Rhode Island	1,975	1,226	749
Vermont	728	317	411

COURT AWARDS $750 TO WOMAN FOR BITE

NEW ORLEANS, May 25.—(AP)—A civil district court jury here returned a verdict for $750 in favor of Mrs. Evelyn Wolfe as damages for a dog bite.

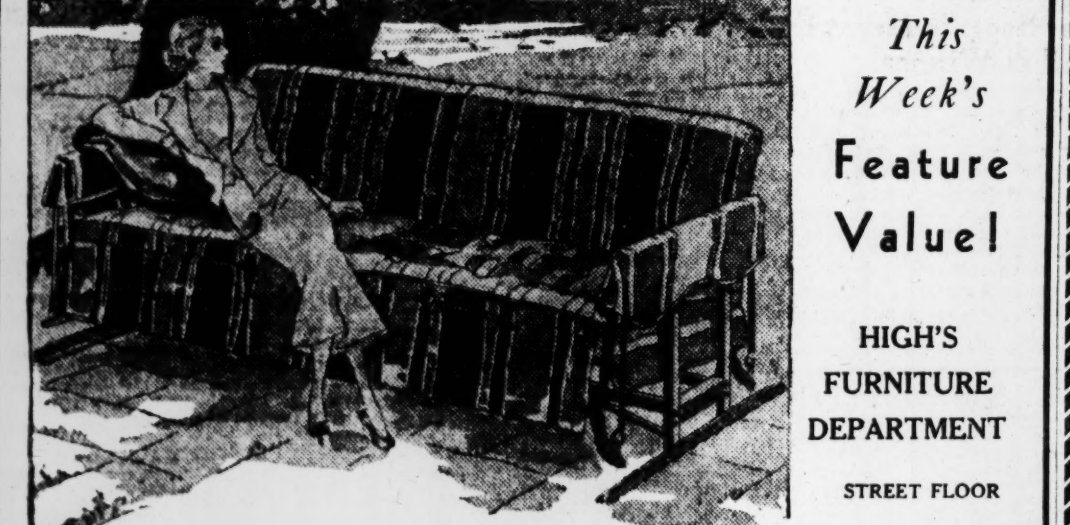

Mrs. Wolfe filed suit against Carmelo D'Antonio, owner of the dog. She testified that she picked up her own small Spitz dog to save it from being attacked by D'Antonio's police dog and that the larger animal "pounced upon her," and bit her.

McMurray-McKeithen Wedding Solemnized at Druid Hills Golf Club

The ballroom of the Druid Hills Golf Club was the scene of the wedding ceremony on Friday afternoon when Miss Cornelia McMurray, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Thomas McMurray, of Jacksonville, Fla., became the bride of Donald Edmond McKeithen, son of Mrs. Doddridge Englehardt McKeithen and the late Mr. McKeithen, of Jacksonville.

The French windows at one end of the ballroom formed the background for the altar, which was banked with palms and calla lilies interspersed with tall candelabra holding white candles.

As the guests assembled, Homer J. Faulkner sang "O Promise Me" and "I'll Be True," accompanied by Miss Faulkner, who played "Liebestraum" during the ceremony. The ring service was performed by Dr. Louis D. Smith, of the Druid Hills Baptist church.

Mrs. Pink Cover Smith, sister of the bride, acted as matron of honor, and her only attendant, entered in a gown of pink tulle, with a long pink French net over the shoulders, and a cape covered with tiny ruffles. She wore a wide-brimmed pink hat with a veil of pink tulle and a sheath of pink roses and spring flowers in pink and blue.

The lovely bride entered with her brother, Pink Cover Smith, who gave her in marriage. They were met at the altar by Mr. McKeithen and L. D. McMath, who was best man.

The bride was never more beautiful than in her wedding gown of pink tulle, with a long pink French net over the shoulders, and a cape covered with tiny ruffles. She wore a wide-brimmed pink hat with a veil of pink tulle and a sheath of pink roses and spring flowers in pink and blue.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the club. The bride's table was overlaid with a lace linen cloth with a centerpiece of spring flowers.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. D. E. McKeithen Sr., wore a becoming afternoon gown of turquoise blue chiffon, fashioned on straight lines with puffed sleeves, with which she wore white accessories. Her flowers were a shoulder bouquet of tea roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. C. C. Swain, grandmother of the bridegroom, wore an afternoon gown of black crepe with white accessories, and a shoulder bouquet of Parma violets and sweet peas.

Handsome Costumes.
Mrs. W. A. Judson Moore, sister of the bridegroom, wore an afternoon gown of printed crepe in two shades of blue on a cream background, with cream-colored accessories. She wore cream roses and sweet peas in a shoulder spray.

Mrs. Myra C. Chandler, cousin of the bride, wore an ensemble with elbow-length cape trimmed with fox fur, and white accessories, with which she wore a shoulder spray of talisman roses. Miss Roma Moore, cousin of the bridegroom, wore a brown and green printed dress with brown taffeta coat and green accessories. She wore a shoulder bouquet of lilies of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. McKeithen left for a wedding trip to Chicago, Ill.; Niagara Falls and New York city, after which they will reside at 22 Collier road. For traveling Mrs. McKeithen was gowning in a Hattie Carnegie ensemble of navy blue tulle, with white and worn with a double scarf of white fox fur and blue accessories. Her shoulder spray was of white gardenias.

The out-of-town guests include Mrs. D. E. McKeithen, Walter Shands McKeithen and Mrs. C. C. Swain, of Jacksonville, Fla.; Mrs. C. Chandler, of Jacksonville; Miss Roma Moore, of Southport, N. C.; and Mrs. W. A. Judson Moore, of Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Mrs. Babington Wins Sweepstake Prize At Linwood Show

Linwood Garden Club staged a splendid flower show and entertained at tea on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. C. P. Edwards, at 1027 North avenue. The sweepstake prize, a lovely Steuben vase, was awarded to Mrs. R. K. Babington for the accumulation of the most blue ribbons. As her outstanding exhibit winning a blue ribbon, Mrs. Babington chose three stalks of blue Canterbury Bells.

List of ribbon winners included Mesdames R. K. Babington, C. A. Moye, W. M. Leppard, Charles Sheldon Jr., H. M. Gammage, R. H. Gammage, C. P. Edwards, John McClelland, A. N. Anderson, Ralph McClelland and Clyde Withers. Judges were Mrs. Fletcher Crown, Mrs. John Brickman and Ray Hastings, who made favorable comments on the exhibits for this first flower show sponsored by Linwood Garden Club.

The receiving line included Mesdames C. P. Edwards, C. A. Moye, and R. H. Lowndes, who are officers of club; also Mrs. R. K. Babington, general chairman of the show. Mrs. John McClelland kept the guest book, bound in green and yellow, the club colors. Mesdames Ralph McClelland and A. N. Anderson received the guests at the door. From an exquisitely appointed table, carrying out the club colors, refreshments were served by Mesdames W. J. O'Callahan, W. M. Turner and Clyde Withers, who were assisted by Mrs. Haskell Boyter, Misses Rosa Neely, Betty Withers, Elizabeth Sheldon, Anne Babington, Margaret Laughlin and Charline Davis.

Miss Shimp Feted In Ormewood Park.

Mrs. James Carlton and Miss Mildred Hance were hostesses Monday evening at the home of Mrs. W. A. Hance, in Ormewood park, at a kitchen shower, the occasion honoring Miss Evelyn Shimp, a bride-elect. The guests included Mesdames Irene Waters, George Christian, John W. Doster, H. G. Heiler, S. L. Crutchfield, W. M. Buckner, Carl Crutchfield, J. P. Wall, L. V. Kennerly, Paul West, Misses Mae Fountain, Francis Little, Ruby Ball, Ruth Ball, Janie Hall, Irene Dover, Effie Crane, Rebecca Dover, Mary Carter, Sara Andrews, Marion Guy, Mrs. E. M. Barrows, Miss Shirley Barton, Mrs. E. G. Kilpatrick, Miss Elizabeth Kilpatrick.

Mrs. H. G. Heller will entertain at a miscellaneous shower at her home on Adair avenue Saturday afternoon, honoring Miss Shimp, a bride-elect. Christian, of East Point, will honor Miss Shimp with a theater party Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. John Allen Jr., has returned from Griffin where she has been the guest of relatives for two weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Hunicutt have taken possession of their new home at 1115 Moreland place. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart D. Jones Jr., of Jacksonville, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart D. Jones at their home on Woodland avenue.

Mrs. C. J. Cates, Mrs. Floy Giam, Mrs. L. V. Kennerly and E. A. Minor were delegates from Martha Brown Memorial church to the district conference held the past week at First Methodist church.

Mrs. Millie Davis has returned from Marietta where she was the guest of relatives.

Mrs. John K. Ottley and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Beers motored to Tallulah Falls yesterday, where they attended the graduation exercises last evening at the Tallulah Falls Industrial school.

Mrs. O. E. Hutcheson and her son, Owen Eldridge Jr., are spending a week at Jacksonville Beach, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben A. Garland and Reuben Garland Jr. are spending 10 days at Sea Island Beach, where they have taken a cottage. Mr. Garland will attend the Georgia Bar Association meeting.

Dr. Champ Holmes and Alex Cloudy are spending several days at the Hotel St. Morris in New York city.

Dr. and Mrs. York Honor Bridal Couple.

Dr. and Mrs. Jesse York entertained at a buffet supper last evening at the home of their brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Candler, on Lullwater road in Druid Hills, in compliment to Miss Ethel York and her fiancé, Dr. Shelby Davis, whose marriage takes place this evening.

White roses and snapdragons in a crystal bowl graced the center of the table and were encircled by crystal candelabra holding white candles. The hosts were assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Edgar Chambers Jr. and Miss Helen Candler.

Rhododendron Club Will Give Picnic On June 15

The Rhododendron Club held the May meeting at the home of Mrs. Edmund Mager, at 1404 Westwood avenue, on Wednesday, with Misses Lucille Moore and Sue Deyerle assisting the hostess. The business session was presided over by the president, Miss Dorothy Martin. The club collected was read by Mrs. J. O. Martin; Mrs. Edmund Mager gave interesting accounts of their trip to Tallulah Falls school, and of meeting the club's protégé, Velie Hicks. Mesdames Horace Harrison, L. S. Patton and W. Beverly Johnson were named a committee to make arrangements for the annual picnic on June 15.

A musical program under the direction of Miss Lucille Moore, Lawrence O. Nilson, director of music in the public schools, who gave an interesting talk on "American Composers," with Mr. Nilson at the piano; Miss Moore sang songs, written by children in the sixth grade, for which Mr. Nilson had composed the music. Accompanied by Miss Moore, Mrs. J. C. Brown sang songs by American composers.

Miss Dorothy Martin, the retiring president, under whose leadership the club has enjoyed two successful years, thanked the officers and members for their loyal co-operation and support during her presidency, and in turning the gavel over to the president-elect, for her every success as president. Miss Broach, under whose efficient guidance the club is expected to continue its splendid philanthropic work, thanked the retiring president for her faith in a bright future for the organization, and of the hearty co-operation of the members.

Mrs. J. O. Martin paid tribute to the faithfulness and zeal of the officers for the past two years, who were Miss Martin, president; Miss Mary Broach, first vice president; Mrs. E. R. Partridge, treasurer, and Mrs. Edmund Mager, secretary. Present were: Mesdames Louise Ballard, Annie Mae Broach, Sue Deyerle, Dorothy Martin, Lucille Moore, Dr. Elizabeth Broach, Mesdames Lawrence Camp, Royal Camp, T. H. Grant, Horace Harrison, M. L. Holmes, W. R. Johnson, B. K. Loney, Edmund Mager, J. O. Martin, Ed. Miller, Alice C. Moore, E. R. Partridge, L. S. Patton, S. R. Ward, O. H. Williams, J. M. Wilson.

Bible Class Gives Gold Star Banquet.

The Jackson Bible class of the Kirkwood Baptist church gave its annual gold star banquet Tuesday evening at the church. Honor guests at the banquet were the members of the class who maintained an average of not lower than 90 per cent, based on the six-point record system, during the months of April and May.

The banquet table was adorned with silver bowls filled with yellow daisies and blue larkspur. The place cards were handmade baskets filled with yellow mints and the handles caught with gold stars. Covers were laid for 58 guests.

The invocation was given by the pastor, Rev. H. H. Shirley, followed by greetings from the class president, Mrs. H. C. Watts. The menu was prepared and served under the direction of Mrs. J. R. Grier. Vocal and instrumental music was rendered by Paul Crutchfield, Al Griner and John Holder. Comedy skits were presented by members of the class. The feature of the program was an inspiring talk by Mrs. Ryland Knight, wife of the pastor of the Second-Ponce de Leon Baptist church.

Tallulah Graduates Pledge Silver Jubilee Scholarship to School

TALLULAH FALLS, Ga., May 25. In addition to the gifts already given by the senior class of Tallulah Falls High Industrial school, members of the graduating class pledged as their silver jubilee gift to the school, a $150 scholarship at the graduation exercises held on Friday evening in the Isma Dooly auditorium. Members of the class, whose diplomas were presented by Mrs. Walter D. Lamar, of Macon, trustee sponsor, include Caroline Lanier, Ruth Hopper, Myrtle Jones, Clyde Roberts, Mary White, Merle Copeland, Annie Ruth Davidson, Dorothy Davidson, Evelyn Duncan, Geneva Kilby, Catherine Lemmons, Rufaula McNelly, Milan Nicholson, Virginia Norton, Sally Scott, and James Sutton. Caroline Lanier, the class president, made the scholarship announcement, and pledged continued effort by the seniors to raise the $150 for the pledged scholarship during this year.

This class claimed the honor to be the first to present to the trustees $25, made by their entertainments at the school, and with the gift was the suggestion every friend of the school give for the 25 years of its existence in twenty-fives: 25 cents, $25, $25,000, $25,000.

Silver Jubilee Addresses.
Chancellor Philip Welner, of the University of Georgia, and Hon. M. D. Collins, state superintendent of schools, made the silver jubilee addresses, and others bringing greetings were Hon. George Purcell, superintendent of schools in Habersham county, and Hon. S. P. Ledford, superintendent of schools in Rabun county. When the school was formally dedicated in 1909, the same authorities were represented by Chancellor David Barrow, Dr. Jere M. Pound and Commissioners Chastain and Grant, of Rabun and Habersham. Twenty-one years later, Dr. Pound addressed the senior class of 21 graduates.

Handcraft certificates, endorsed by Georgia State Board of Vocational Education, were awarded as follows: Weaving, dyeing, basketry, hooked rugs, Mary White; weaving, Carolyn Lanier; weaving, Geneva Kilby; weaving, Myrtle Jones.

Mrs. Ottley Presides.
Mrs. John K. Ottley, of Atlanta, president of the board of trustees of Tallulah Falls Industrial School, Inc., which is owned by Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, presided over the auspicious graduation exercises, with Mrs. Z. I. Fitzpatrick, executive vice president of the trustee board, and Miss Mamie Pinckard, faculty chairman. The school was founded in 1909, and opened in 1910, and is termed "The Light in the Mountains," because it provides the opportunity for underprivileged mountain boys and girls to receive an education. Among the distinguished guests attending the exercises were Hon. Claude Purcell, superintendent Habersham county schools; Hon. S. F. Ledford, superintendent Rabun county schools; Dr. Charles T. Hardman, trustee Tallulah Falls school district; Mrs. H. W. Beers, president Atlanta Young Matrons' Circle; Mrs. William D. Elmes Jr., Atlanta; Mrs. John S. Lester, Macon, and Dr. Glenville Giddings, Atlanta.

Cold as the winter was in the east, the western national parks got only about half the usual amount of snow and spring came there early.

ITS UP TO THE WOMEN

By Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt

What does the First Lady of the land think about marriage, divorce, children, careers for women, family income, health, the household? The Constitution presents herewith the sixth of a series of sixty articles, giving her opinion in a chatty, confiding tone as if she talked with you across the tea table. Every word has been written by Mrs. Roosevelt herself. There has been no collaboration.

VI—PART TIME FOR THE ELDERLY

It seems to me that many a woman needs help in her home far more when she is young and newly married, and the comfort would be great of having a middle-aged woman, who has been through many of the difficulties which she is now facing, coming in to help her, but as a rule the expense entailed in this country makes it impossible. First of all, to find people who are willing to take part-time work of this kind is difficult and the price it is possible for a young married couple to pay is very often inadequate.

My mail is filled with pleas from middle-aged and old women who feel themselves dependent on their children and yet would be so grateful if they could earn something, even a small amount, to pay something for their board and have a little spending money of their own.

I am sure people of this kind can be found in every community and if they would fit themselves they could be really useful for a few hours a day, either going in the afternoon to help get dinner or to stay on with the young children while the father and mother go out, or coming in the morning on busy days to do some of the washing or some of the cooking.

This would fill, in many communities, a real need for two different kinds of people, the young married and the elderly women. Of course, I feel that the stigma can only be taken from domestic service if it can be looked upon as a profession. The person undertaking it should do her work exactly as though she were going into a factory and be on a business footing, should expect no social recognition, no particular consideration, but simply go in and work her time and do what is expected of her, looking for no recognition other than the consideration which would be given to any worker who was doing her work well.

This requires, of course, on the part of the employer training so that she may know how to handle her work and plan so that she can tell someone coming in to help her, just what there is to do and in what as she would run a business. This will put domestic service on its proper footing and will at least make part-time work something accessible to the middle-aged woman in the community.

The price for this work should be regulated by the prevailing living cost and by the amount generally paid for the particular type of work, taking into consideration, of course, any special responsibility assumed by the worker. As it is not work involving very heavy strain either physical or mental, as a rule the pay should be kept at a medium level.

Both part-time and full-time domestic employment should be undertaken by skilled workers under regular rules and employer and employee should agree to abide by them. The wages for both should be paid in the same way, taking into account the age and skill of the worker.

Many young married people spend more thought on how to get into real comfort or on having what will make the family living and the relationship with friends happier and easier. This comes partly from the fact that in the past few years we have felt the stamp of success to be material possessions and therefore we did not set ourselves so much to living contented lives as to accumulating as much money as possible in order that we might shortly have the same material possessions that some of our neighbors had. This conception of living is something which in older civilizations is not so apt to be the ideal of the mass of the people.

England is dotted over with small country homes where people live in comfort very congenial lives with very little money. The same can be said of France. There one may find countless little villas, countless little apartments in small towns where people are content to live the kind of lives that they enjoy with the independence which I think we will some day emulate when we realize that, after all, life is lived from day to day.

By FRIDRICK GARDNER.

NEW YORK, May 25.—(AP)—

Stocks crept forward cautiously today in another thin market.

Bulls watched indifferently as wheat prices soared, discounting immediate importance of the rise in grain

because it was based chiefly on drought and crop damage reports.

Transfers on the stock exchange hardly exceeded volume of the preceding session. The total was 555,470 shares.

Modest buying throughout the list was sufficient to extend the creeping upward movement in evidence yesterday.

The average price of 90 stocks closed at 77, up nine-tenths of a point.

In contrast with the low volume performance of stocks, wheat jumped more than 3 cents a bushel to new high for the current advance, closing

2 5/8 to 3 1/4 cents a bushel higher.

Winnipeg led the rise with an advance of about 3 cents. Corn scored additional gains of 7/8 to 1 3/8 cents a bushel and soy and cotton moved more than a cent higher. Cotton rose 40 to 50 cents a bale. Silver, rubber and hides firmed.

Except for government bonds, which seemed to benefit from the same influences operating to firm the dollar against foreign exchanges, security markets were content to pursue a sleepy course.

Outstanding strength was restricted to tobacco shares. Proposals in congress to cut tobacco taxes 10 per cent motivated the buying. American Tobacco B, Liggett & Myers B, Reynolds and Lorillard picked up gains of fractions to 2 points.

Curtiss Publishing preferred advanced more than 2 points as directors declared a dividend of $1.25 a share on the 87 preferred on account of accumulations. The 100 shares of associated preferred gained 2 points for a similar reason. Moderate demand carried Corn Products, Devoe & Raynolds, Allied Chemical and Wm. Wrigley for gains of about 2 points.

Otherwise movements were narrow.

American Can, General Motors, United States Steel, American Telephone, New York Central, Southern Pacific and other old leaders showed gains of around a point or less at the close.

A better-than-seasonal gain of 9,403 cars was disclosed by the weekly

by railroad traffic report. Loadings totalled 61,142 cars, an increase of 75,423 over the like 1933 week.

COTTONS ADVANCE

NEW YORK, May 25.—(AP)—The cotton market closed a little better than steady today but volume was extremely light. Transfers which approximated only 102,000 shares, represented the smallest total for a full trading session since March 30, 1933.

Fractional variations predominated in final prices with a few specialties, as usual, ranging wider. Sherwin

Williams recovered nearly 3 points following a sinking spell early in the week. Waco Aircraft and Hiram

Walker firmed a point, but Sherwin

Company and New Jersey Zinc dropped back a couple of points each.

Oil of Indiana, Lake Shore, Technicolor and Imperial Oil were virtually unchanged. Greyhound eased a trifle under taking, while United Fruit and Celanese first preferred yielded fractionally under the influence of price unsettlement in the textile industry.

The new stock created by the reorganization of the United Aircraft and Transportation Company were admitted to dealings today on an unlimited basis. They included the United Airlines, United Aircraft and Boeing Airplane issues.

FENNER & BEANE—Fenner's performance of the day was a record, and continued to further constructive activity and higher prices in Saturday's short session.

BEER & CO.—After further advance in Saturday's session, the market limit of the current rise in the upper part of the market was reached. The market was in a state of indecision

and higher prices in Saturday's

short session.

COTTONS ADVANCE.

FENNER & BEANE—The market actively in the position to respond to any favorable developments in the cotton market. The market was in a state of indecision and higher prices in Saturday's short session.

BEER & CO.—We continue to favor buying cotton on setbacks for quick trading on the time being.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO. TO DOBBS &

CO.—The advance of the cotton market has been a record, and continued to further constructive activity and higher prices in Saturday's

short session.

WAR CRY STIRS FUROR IN FRENCH CHAMBER

Government Assailed as Strife Before End of Year Is Predicted.

PARIS, May 25.—(UP)—Shouts of "war before the end of the year in Europe" threw the chamber of deputies into an uproar today.

Excited deputies flaying the government's national defense and foreign policy programs denounced its failure to check Germany's alleged rearmament program, which they declared was forcing France rapidly toward another bloody conflict.

Foreign Minister Louis Barthou leaped to his feet to deny laxity on the part of the Doumergue administration.

Barthou added that the government "has an able representative in Berlin" who is looking out for France's interests and keeping the government closely posted. Defending the government's foreign policy, Barthou said France was working for closer understanding with Soviet Russia.

"During my visits in Warsaw and Geneva," he told the chamber, "I stressed the entry of soviet Russia into the League would be an event of great importance for European peace."

He emphasized the need to safeguard independence of Austria.

Meeting Date Set.
DANVILLE, Va., May 25.—(AP)—Announcement was made today that the annual meeting of the Tobacco Association of the United States will be held at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., July 5, 6 and 7. Colonel A. B. Carrington, of Danville, president, is recovering from an illness and does not expect to be able to attend.

NOTICE
THIS IS TO NOTIFY THE PUBLIC that the American Constitution Fire Assurance Company now by merger known as American Home Fire Insurance Company of New York City, has withdrawn from the business of fire, marine, motor vehicle, earthquake, inland navigation, and transportation, Toronto, Hall, Sprinkler, leakage, riot, civil commotion, and war insurance in the State of Georgia. The said company has released in the Pacific Fire Insurance Co. of New York City, N. Y., all policies issued by it in the State of Georgia, and has satisfied all claims and losses and claims of its policy holders therein, and on the 2nd day of July, 1934, will make application to Honorable W. H. Harrison, Insurance Commissioner of the State of Georgia, to have the said company from the State Treasury the bonds deposited by the above-named company in the said Treasury as a guarantee fund for the protection of Georgia policyholders.

AMERICAN CONSTITUTION FIRE ASSURANCE COMPANY, NOW BY MERGER KNOWN AS AMERICAN HOME FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY, VICE PRES.
H. E. HEDDERLEY, Vice Pres.

Be Fair—Give Yourself A Chance at Health

When your liver becomes torpid or sluggish the bile stagnates and stops flowing freely—your food does not digest—it just ferments and decays in the bowels. The blood absorbs these poisons and you suffer from constipation, gas, sick headaches, biliousness, nervousness and sour stomach.

Sargol Soft Mass Pills remove the cause of this condition. They are not like any other medicine you have ever taken. They are so gentle and thorough in their action that there is nothing about them to remind you that you have ever taken a medicine.

Unless you have tried Sargol Soft Mass Pills you can have no idea of the effect produced by this natural cleansing of your liver and intestinal tract. You feel stronger, healthier and happier. Life and color return to faded eyes and cheeks, the appetite and digestion improve. Start taking Sargol Soft Mass Pills today. They are for sale by Jacobs Pharmacy Co., Lane Drug Stores and all other good drug stores.—(adv.)

Youth Gets One Day On Mann Act Charge

NEW ORLEANS, May 25.—(AP)—Gaylord Earle Rice, of Memphis, Tenn., was given a one-day sentence in federal court here today on a charge of bringing to New Orleans Miss Vivian Mason, 19, daughter of a minister of Wall Lake, Mich., in violation of the Mann act.

Rice was arrested after Miss Mason, her face bruised, told police he beat her up when she refused to accept the attentions of one of Rice's friends.

Rice, permitted to question the young woman in court, asked her questions concerning her conduct with other men on the trip to New Orleans.

Scottsboro Lawyers Flay Jury System

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 25.—(AP)—Alabama's system of selecting jurors today was attacked and defended in the arguments of counsel in submitting an appeal to the state supreme court for reversal of death sentences imposed on two of nine negro defendants in the "Scottsboro case."

Counsel for the negroes—Heywood Patterson and Clarence Norris, convicted of attacking a white woman—contended that "systematic" exclusion of negroes from the juries in Jackson and Morgan counties "solely because of their race and color" violated their constitutional rights.

On this ground, Osmond K. Fraenkel, of New York, one of the attorneys retained by the International Labor Defense in behalf of the negroes, urged the death sentences should be set aside and the indictments quashed.

DIPLOMAS GIVEN TO CLASS OF 177 BY RUSSELL HIGH

A record-breaking class of 177 students was graduated by the Russell High school Friday night with commencement exercises held at the Wesleyan Memorial auditorium.

W. P. Anderson, president of the county board of education, delivered the certificates to the class, which Paul D. West, principal, said was the largest in the history of the school.

Elsie Blackstone received highest honors for the year, being valedictorian and being awarded the Wesleyan College scholarship and the cup for the best all-round student. Her address was on "New Frontiers."

Second honor was won by James H. Davis, the salutatorian, who received the scholarship to Washington and Lee. Frank Wells Jr. was class orator.

Other scholarships were the Mercer University scholarship, awarded to Woodrow Meriwether; Oglethorpe, Elizabeth Ferrell; Shorter, Evelyn Cason; LaGrange, Martha Cason; and Besse Tift, to Sarah Coleman. Cecil Stanley won the Jere A. Wells cup for the second best all-around student. Superintendent Wells delivered the awards, and several medals to outstanding pupils.
